Managing Director Norman Duttweiler announced today that the Forestburgh Playhouse will hold auditions on Saturday, May 29 from 10 AM to 12 noon at the Playhouse in Forestburgh, NY for local children and adults interested in performing in this summer's productions. "We have a number of opportunities this summer for local performers of all ages here at the Playhouse. We're looking for high school or college age singers to fill out the ensembles in all of our main stage musicals and YAFF production, including A Chorus Line, Singin' in the Rain, Fame, Fiddler on the Roof, and Seussical. We are looking for children for chorus roles in Fiddler on the Roof. We are also looking for some featured children's roles: two boys aged 10 – 14 for the roles of Young Don Lockwood and Young Cosmo Brown in Singin'

in the Rain, and a young girl aged 8 – 10 for the role of Bielke in Fiddler on the Roof. Of course, we're always looking for older character actors, male and female, for various roles throughout the season. Working at the Playhouse is really a golden opportunity for young performers to learn from professionals in a professional environment. Of course, it's a great place for adults who enjoy acting as an avocation as well."

All performers auditioning should prepare a musical selection. An accompanist will be provided. Additional information about the Forestburgh Playhouse summer 2010 season and other audition information are available online at www.FBplayhouse.org.
